* STiK stands for Social Transfers in Kind which are "goods and services provided by government and non-profit institutions that benefit individuals but are provided free or at subsidised prices" (Canberra Group Handbook, 2011).
 consumption flows from durable goods depends on national availability; at this stage these consumption flows are not readily available in any of the harmonised datasets in the LCS database.
 values for durable goods follow national practices; these do not necessarily correspond to acquisition prices, see remarks in the national survey documentation.
